From the Presidents

"How did you all get started?," a new member recently asked. With that in mind and a reminder that the League's 90th birthday will be February 14, 2010, it's good to reflect on a little history. The League of Women Voters started after women got the right to vote.

In her address to the National American Woman Suffrage Association's (NAWSA) 50th convention in St. Louis, Missouri, President Carrie Chapman Catt proposed the creation of a "league of women voters to finish the fight and aid in the reconstruction of the nation." Women Voters was formed within the NAWSA, composed of the organizations in the states where suffrage had already been attained.

The next year, on February 14, 1920 – six months before the 19th amendment to the Constitution was ratified – the League was formally organized in Chicago as the national League of Women Voters. Catt described the purpose of the new organization:

"The League of Women Voters is not to dissolve any present organization but to unite all existing organizations of women who believe in its principles. It is not to lure women from partisanship but to combine them in an effort for legislation which will protect coming movements, which we cannot even foretell, from suffering the untoward conditions which have hindered for so long the coming of equal suffrage. Are the women of the United States big enough to see their opportunity?"

Maud Wood Park became the first national president of the League and thus the first League leader to rise to the challenge. She had steered the women's suffrage amendment through Congress in the last two years before ratification and liked nothing better than legislative work. From the very beginning, however, it was apparent that the legislative goals of the League were not exclusively focused on women's issues and that citizen education aimed at all of the electorate was in order.

Since its inception, the League has helped millions of women and men become informed participants in government. In fact, the first League convention voted 69 separate items as statements of principle and recommendations for legislation. Among them were protection for women and children, right of working women, food supply and demand, social hygiene, the legal status of women, and American citizenship. The League's first major national legislative success was the passage of the Sheppard-Towner Act providing federal aid for maternal and child care programs. In the 1930's, League members worked successfully for enactment of the Social Security and

Food and Drug Acts. Due at least in part to League efforts, legislation passed in 1938 and 1940 removed hundreds of federal jobs from the spoils system and placed them under Civil Service.

During the postwar period, the League helped lead the effort to establish the United Nations and to ensure U.S. participation. The League was one of the first organizations in the country officially recognized by the United Nations as a non-governmental organization; it still maintains official observer status today.

Membership Committee

This year the League will be focusing on increasing our membership. We have formed a membership committee consisting of five members of the League including myself. The committee members are as follows, Virginia Ghirardelli, Linda DeLuca, Mary Cloyd, and Donna Russell.

We will be meeting once a month to discuss how to recruit new members. We hope all our members, new and old, will come forth with ideas to help our committee. We offer membership in the League to anyone who expresses an interest. The aim of the League is to make democracy work better and no idea is too small to be considered.

If you would like to express your ideas to the committee or know of anyone who may want to join please contact me, Ellen Forwalk, Membership Chairman at 681-3096. Remember, there is strength in numbers.

Hilton Head Island Safe Harbour

LWVHHI member Ronni Silett is looking for volunteers for Hilton Head Island Safe Harbour, a new not-for-profit service organization designed by and for Hilton Head Islanders who want to stay in their own homes as they age, with the confidence of knowing that assistance is just a phone call away. It will provide support, services, and resources to help its members live healthy and meaningful lives in their own homes.

HHI Safe Harbour will try to meet the individual needs of its members as long as they can remain safely in their homes. Examples might be providing transportation, when needed for daily living, and assistance with minor household chores. Members who pay a reasonable annual fee will have access to the services of carefully screened volunteers. When volunteers cannot handle the task, members may be referred to a registry of reliable vendors, some of whom will give member discounts.

HHI Safe Harbour needs volunteers from anywhere on the island and close surrounding areas. The organization hopes to promote "One Island, One Community -- Neighbors helping Neighbors".

Volunteer orientation is Saturday morning, December 5, 2009, from 10am to 12noon, at the Hilton Head Library, 11 Beach City Road, Hilton Head Island

For further information, call Ronni Silett at 843-363-4032 or Hilton Head Island Safe Harbour at 843-671-SAFE(7233).

A New Vision For Hilton Head Island's Future

Thanksgiving

Two years of intensive work by the members of the Comprehensive Plan Committee of the Hilton Head Island Planning Commission, to review and update the document which guides land use decisions on the Island, will soon yield a final product. At our November membership meeting Tom Crews, Chairman of the Committee, took us through the many steps which the Committee has followed to obtain and evaluate both concrete facts and figures and the wishes and sentiments of community residents and leaders. This "knowledge foundation" yielded core themes to guide the Committee in formulating a new vision for Hilton Head Island.

Redevelopment of the Island's tired infrastructure, economic sustainability and protection of the Island's unique brand image topped the list. State law requires addressed in a Comprehensive Plan. The day of our meeting, the elements Natural Resources, Economic Development and Land Use were to be presented to the Committee in final form, with the remaining elements to be rolled out in the next few weeks. The final plan will be presented to the full Commission for adoption on February 3, 2010. Then it will go to the Hilton Head Island Town Council.

Following his excellent PowerPoint presentation, Mr. Crews and fellow Planning Commissioner (and League member) Loretta Warden sat down in front of the group and answered questions. The questions ranged from public transportation and affordable housing to lighting and signage to the airport and to the relationship between the Commissioners and Town staff. On the latter point, both Commissioners extolled the invaluable help of the staff in collecting data and bringing the resources of the Town (such as the mapping system) to bear on the Committee's work.

Loretta made the very interesting point that the Towns of Port Royal and Beaufort hired professional firms, at considerable expense, to formulate their Comprehensive Plans, whereas our Hilton Head Island Plan is being written by the appointed Commissioners. Both of our speakers stressed the need for organizations such as ours to convey to the Town Council members, who will adopt the Plan in its final form, our views. They, of course, hope for our support.

Keep an eye on this process as it continues. There will be much public discussion and more opportunities for public input. You might want to accompany League member Ann Coffin, who has monitored the Comprehensive Planning Committee from the beginning and will continue to attend their meetings. She can be reached at 681-8051.

LOOK FOR THE LEAGUE BANNER !

Actually, it's more like a sign-board on a pole, but it identifies the League contingent marching in the Martin Luther King Holiday parade on Monday, January 18. We have participated in this community event for several years, and all members are welcome to join in. We will assemble in the parking lot at Hilton Head High School at 9:45 a.m.

The march takes about 30 minutes at a leisurely pace, and culminates with a program in the school's auditorium and lunch in the cafeteria.

Greetings

Census Update

Paul Shepherd, who spoke about Census 2010 at our October meeting, reports that Beaufort County has appointed a Complete Count Committee. Co-chairs of the County effort are Herman Gaither and Eric Esquivel. A local office will be opened on December 4. Mr. Shepherd hopes that League volunteers will help staff a Hilton Head Island committee. If you are interested in participating, call Sally McGarry at 342-9254 or Donna Russell at 837-7022.
